Welcome to our September update

Site Progress

- The Adam Smith Business School broke ground in June, and piling works have now completed. The foundations and retaining wall works have commenced and we have begun to stand shutters for the concrete frame.
- Two tower cranes were erected for the Adam Smith Business School during August and will remain in place until late 2022.
- Envelope works are ongoing on the Clarice Pears Institute of Health and Wellbeing building, including façade, roof light installation, and other roof works. The building is now substantially weather and water tight. The internal fit out works are well underway, with the partitions, MEP services, taping and filling, and stair balustrades all being progressed well.
