Project Look Ahead

- At the Adam Smith Business School, rooftop plant will begin to be installed, enabling the progression of the remaining steelwork and high-level access routes.
- The Clarice Pears Institute of Health and Wellbeing remains on course to achieve a handover date of November 2022 with the University subsequently progressing with their remaining works prior to occupation.
- The University are finalising plans to enable the safe opening of University Square and associated infrastructure to the public, connecting Byres Road to Kelvingrove Park – connectivity being a key theme of the Campus Development scheme.

Community Update

- A local employment event was held at the University to promote job opportunities on the Adam Smith Business School and was attended by our delivery partners SES Engineering Services, Danny Sullivan Group and Linear Projects.

Environmental Update

Below is summary of our recent environmental initiatives:

- To celebrate plastic-free July the team participated in a local litter picking event in Kelvingrove Park which was hosted by Keep Scotland Beautiful. The sustainability team are also hosting training sessions to raise awareness of the damage caused by microplastics and promote onsite and office-based plastic-reduction measures including compostable cups and bag-stashes located in the kitchen to reuse carrier bags.
- Over 100 trees have been planted alongside an extensive planting scheme as part of the Infrastructure & Landscaping project, providing an excellent environment for pollinators and other local wildlife.

As part of the Mazumdar-Shaw Advanced Research Centre project, a number of bird and bat boxes have been installed at locations around the Campus

- Having been shortlisted for the VIBES Scottish Environment Business Awards, judges visited the site to see first-hand the environmental initiatives at the Campus Development site.
